Once I got a little older,
we would go and search for food together. She taught me what foods were good to eat. Just like my mom, abalone is my favorite!

Now that I'm older, I can take care of myself.

Thank you, Mom, for keeping me safe and for everything you taught me!

When I was a baby sea otter, my mom took care of me, and she taught me lots of new things!

Without her, I never would have learned how to survive in the great big ocean.

She raised me all by herself and kept me safe from any danger.

Before I learned how to swim, I spent all day snuggled up on my mom's chest. Except when she was diving and looking for food -- then she would wrap me up in kelp, to make sure I didn't float away.
